

1. What is the use of for-else statement in python
2. Explain about use of break and continue statement in python
3. Difference b/w break and continue statement in python
4. How we can read the data from the user in python
5. Why we need type conversions functions in python and what is advantage of using them explain it with example program.
6. Explain about split() function in python
7. Explain about use of split() function in different ways
8. Explain about map() function in python
9. Difference between map() object and other objects in python
10. Explain about join() function in python